What with rush parties and this and that, the time has come when a man actually can't call his clothes his own. Five fraternities were represented at a sorority party last Tuesday night in the shape of borrowed tuxes—the shapes in the tux being those of co-eds on rushing bent.

Glancing in through the window of Building 9 on that night one might have surmised that an army of college youths had invaded the sacred precincts of the sorority rooms. But actually, there was no occasion for alarm on the part of the Lady Dean. It was simply a case of shebas masquerading in shek's clothing.

Jerry Sicker was heard to congratulate himself that owing to a certain rotundity of person his dress suit was adjudged unsuitable for feminine attire and so remained the only one at the Sigma Chi House not commandeered for the occasion.

Incidentally, the girls were enlightened on several points of masculine psychology. They learned, for instance, that the strenuous objection of the male of the species to wearing a tux after the last of March is not mere obtuseness, but has a very definite relation to climatic conditions and personal comfort.

They were struck also by the fact that whereas the lady's flowing skirts used to impede dancing, now it's these twenty-inch bottoms that get in the way, skirts having long since retreated beyond the danger line of Charleston heels.

From across the sea come echoes of the visit of the Cambridge Debate team to America.

They liked us, did these English boys, just as we liked them; and they found our slang and our jazz highly amusing, just as we enjoyed their precision of speech and unbending British dignity.

A phase of American college life that they found particularly amazing was that well-known campus phenomenon, the Pep Meeting. Coming here from a country where concerted cheering is unknown, this practice doubtless confirmed a deep-seated impression of America as a land of tomahawks and war whoops.

In fact, one of the visiting Englishmen confessed that the first time he heard a long "Boo rah" roll out over a football field, he glanced fearfully behind him, half expecting to see a band of husky redskins descend with murderous intent upon the assembled crowd.

Writing in the Cambridge University magazine of his first experience at a Pep Meeting, H. G. G. Herklots, one of the members of the team which debated here, says: "I learnt more of the University to which I had come. Usually chapel is compulsory. This week, however, important things were afoot, so chapel was discontinued. In view of the forthcoming match it seemed absurd to importune the Almighty. Instead, they had compulsory pep meetings in chapel."

A fairly accurate estimate of the relative attraction of devotionals and pep meetings.

The traditionally undemonstrative Britisher is unable fully to comprehend the enthusiasm evidenced by American students over a football game.

Mr. Herklots continues with this sly dig: "So in the morning we made our way to chapel. Earnest, set faces were everywhere and they were singing. The place was filled with a genuine religious fervor, such as one seldom encounters in a college chapel. 'Fight, fight, fight for the team,' they sang, and we took our seats."

It must be admitted that this performance might seem a bit barbaric to the uninitiated.

One of the saving graces of the American is his genuine enjoyment of an outsider's view of himself. We revel in seeing ourselves as others see us, even when this view is not wholly complimentary. Whether this trait is based on an unshakable complacency or on a rare ability for self-criticism is not certain, but at any rate it gives the visiting foreigner free rein in the expression of his opinions.

Our team of debaters which is to visit England next fall will have some interesting experiences and impressions to report.

COLONIAL QUINT SPLITS EVEN IN WEEK'S GAMES

Wins With Even Score Over Washington Square College

DEFENSE POWERFUL IN TILT WITH GOTHAMITES

"Scarlet Hurricane" of Davis-Elkins Takes First Battle With Four Point Lead

For the second time in two successive weeks the hard-fighting Colonials broke even in two court battles fought on their own floor. The "Scarlet Hurricane," better known as the quint representing Davis-Elkins College, nosed out the home boys Wednesday evening by a 29-25 score. As if to regain lost laurels the Hatchettes came back Saturday night to out-score and out-play the Washington Square College of New York University, 27-20.

The visitors from Gotham were easily outclassed from the start in their encounter and would have been mauled if the Colonial passing had not fallen off at critical moments. Try as they would the New Yorkers could not penetrate the powerful defensive wall of their opponents. Fifteen minutes of the first half had passed before Leder, a substitute forward, sank a field goal from the middle of the floor.

Aside from the fact that the fans saw the Lemonite defense at its best they saw Haun, the rangy center of the victors, accomplish a feat not uncommon in basketball, but which was the first time it has occurred during this season on the G. W. court. Referee Fuller called for a toss-up between Haun and Puterman just a little to the right of the former's basket. As the two men jumped in the air Haun tapped the ball sending it looping into the basket and down the cords. The spectators responded with a loud round of applause.

The game itself was by no means brilliant, but the last minute rally by the visitors added interest. (Continued on page 4.)

ART PROMOTERS PLAN TRIP THROUGH EUROPE

Club Members to Sail June 25, Visiting Principal Centers of Europe

The Art Promoters Club has opened a new department of study, Oriental Art, with a studio in Oriental style at 2009 Eye Street N. W., with talks, teas, and dancing. The membership of the Art Promoters is much increased this year, and the club announces a European travel tour for next summer under the leadership of Dr. Gertrude Richardson Brigham, assisted by Margaret Boswell and William Elderkin Huntington, members of the club.

The party will sail on June 25, by the steamship Minnekahda from New York, visiting principal centers in France, Italy, Germany, Switzerland, Holland and England, besides a number of out-of-the-way places, and with unusual privileges for sightseeing and art study. The rates are attractively arranged for student travel.

Officers of the Art Promoters Club for this year are Kermit Girdner, President; Rowland Lyon, Matalae Lake, and Katherine Summy, Vice Presidents; Mary Virginia Leokie, Secretary; Margaret Boswell, Treasurer. Other students are invited to visit the clubroom.

TELLER AND ROSS OF G. W. ALUMNI HONORED

L. W. Teller, B. S. in C. E. '22, and testing engineer of the Bureau of Public Roads, recently gave an illustrated talk before the G. W. student chapter of the American Society of Engineers.

At the close of his term of office as chairman of the membership committee of the Washington Board of Trade, W. W. Ross '22, was honored at a dinner at the Continental Hotel. During Mr. Ross' regime as head of the club the membership had risen to 2800.

Alumni in the vicinity of Rochester, N. Y., are taking steps to organize an alumni association that will include the western counties of the state.

CO-ED DEBATERS LOSE TO OHIO WESLEYAN

George Washington's co-ed debaters lost to the team representing Ohio Wesleyan by a two to one decision on Friday, February 4, 1927. The subject was "Resolved: That Congress should enact uniform marriage and divorce laws." George Washington upheld to the negative side of the question.

Ruth Kernan, Marjorie Mothershead, Florence Smith, Lucy Swanton, Alice Nesbit represented G. W.

SLUGS

Dr. Paul Bartsch, of the Smithsonian Institute, and Professor of Zoology in the University, has found that the common garden slug is the perfect gas detector.

After years of work by chemists all over the country, the chance escape of some slugs confined in his basement, and his discovery of them almost seventy feet away, eating a boiled potato, put Dr. Bartsch on the right track, and started his investigations proving their extraordinary olfactory powers.

The slug is small, easily carried, and not hard to feed. Its olfactory powers are so great that the amount of gas in the air may be ascertained from its reaction. It is found in Belgium in great numbers.

ORATORY CONTEST PLANS ANNOUNCED

Seven Prizes Ranging From $350 To $1,500 to be Awarded Winners

FINALS IN LOS ANGELES

Ruth Newburn, Representing G. W., Was Second in Regional Finals in 1925

The Better American Federation has announced plans for the third National Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest. These contests are held by the Federation "with the hope that they will be the means of turning college thought and enthusiasm toward the great and unending business of government, and particularly toward that form of constitutional government under which America has risen to the primacy among the nations of the earth."

The prizes for the contest will be seven in number, ranging from $350 to $1,500, and will be paid in cash at the grand final meeting in Los Angeles on June 23.

Orations must be original, must not require more than ten minutes for delivery, and must be on any one of the following subjects: The Constitution, Washington and the Constitution, Hamilton and the Constitution, Jefferson and the Constitution, Marshall and the Constitution, Franklin and the Constitution, Madison and the Constitution, Webster and the Constitution, or Lincoln and the Constitution.

Any Undergrad Eligible

Any bona fide undergraduate student in any college or university in the United States is eligible. A student in any of the professional courses is eligible, provided he or she has not received a degree, diploma or certificate of graduation from any institution of higher learning in this country or abroad.

The fact that a student participated in the 1925 or 1926 National Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest does not disqualify him from taking part in the 1927 contest, unless he was a national finalist in the first or second contest.

The working unit in the contest is the individual college. Each college is to select its own representative, and is to have only one. Two years ago Ruth Newburn, a member of the Women's Debate team, was chosen as the representative of George Washington and won second place in the regional finals.

Entries Close March 15

The country will be divided into seven major regions in which colleges and universities will compete among themselves. The representatives of each college in each region will compete on April 29 in groups of about eight each, to determine the finalists for their particular region.

The regional meetings will be held between May 17 and May 31 in locations to be designated by the contest management. The winner in each of these seven regional meetings automatically becomes entitled to a place in the national final in Los Angeles. A place in the national finals carries with it the assurance of one of the seven cash awards. The judges will not study the orations in written form, but will pass upon both composition and delivery while the orations are being delivered.

Entries for the contest will close on March 15. Plans for choosing the representative of George Washington have not yet been announced, but it is understood that the University will send one.

MRS. WILSON SINGS

Music lovers of the University heard Mrs. Walter K. Wilson sing at chapel last Wednesday, February 2. The singer's selections ranged from the tender "Lullabye" of Cyril Scott to the dramatic "Micaela Song" from Carmen, and included the "Brown Bird Singing," "A Bird of the Wilderness" and "The Fairies at the Bottom of Our Garden." Mrs. Wilson was accompanied by Mrs. Kathryn Rawles.

DEBATE SQUAD SCORES TWICE IN SAME WEEK

Randolph-Macon and Wesleyan Are Victims in Close Contests

OPEN FORUM METHOD GIVES PLACE TO JUDGES

Cancellation of United States Inter-Aligned Debts is Subject of Both Debates

With its winning of both varsity debates last week, the George Washington debating team has broken the string of defeats which started last fall and has continued up to now.

Reversing the decision received on its southern trip, the team emerged victorious by a unanimous vote over the Randolph-Macon team, last Tuesday. The Colonials took the negative of the subject, "Resolved: That the United States' Inter-Aligned Debts Should be Cancelled," while the Southerners defended the affirmative.

The George Washington team, consisting of W. A. McSwain, and W. F. Williamson, argued that the debts were legal, binding obligations and that doubt and suspicion would be placed on all future similar negotiations if these were cancelled. The Randolph-Macon debaters who based their arguments on sentimental reasons and the fact that America was able to cancel the debts, were George C. Watson and Allan W. Moger.

Judges Decide Issue

A departure was made from the open-forum method of rendering a decision, which was used the first part of the year, and three judges voted on the merits of points presented. The judges were Congressman Rathbone, of Illinois, Mr. J. E. Quinlan, and Mr. G. F. Thompson, both of the Department of Commerce. Prof. Gilbert L. Hall, of the Law School, presided over the debate.

The debate with Ohio Wesleyan University is believed by many to have been the best held thus far this year. The subject was the same debated with Randolph-Macon, but a different team represented George Washington for the negative. The Colonial debaters were George Sanders, Cyrus Hoagland, and W. F. Williamson, while the Buckeye States were Joseph Peters, Lawrence Appley, and Arthur Fleming. This team is by far the strongest encountered by George Washington, this year, and it was difficult to differentiate between the two teams in choosing the victor.

Debate Well Attended

In contrast with the Randolph-Macon debate which was very poorly attended, a large crowd was present. The Wesleyans stressed the expediency of cancelling the debts from a moral, economic and political standpoint. The Hatchettes claimed that no moral obligation existed, that Europe was able to pay and that she should, because of the legality and validity of the negotiations at the time when the loans were made.

The three judges for the evening were Dr. George B. Woods, Dr. Frank W. Collier, both of American University, and Mr. Ernest H. Van Fossan, member of the Board of Tax Appeals. Senator Willis, of Ohio, presided over the meeting in his most interesting and enjoyable manner.

A hot battle is expected to be forthcoming next Saturday night, February 12, at 8 o'clock, when a George Washington varsity team will uphold the affirmative of the question, "Resolved: That the Volstead Act Should be Modified to Include the Sale of Light Wines and Beer," against Penn State University, in Corcoran Hall. Joseph Levinson, R. Harris, and James Kirkland are the members of the Colonial team which will debate next Saturday, and are to invade the state of Pennsylvania very shortly to engage in five debates with universities there.

MID-YEAR REGISTRATION ENDS FOR SECOND TERM

All Changes in Program Must be Made Today

After several strenuous weeks, February registration is dwindling down to a few tardy stragglers, notwithstanding the fee of $5 imposed on late applicants. Affairs in the Registrar's office are resuming their customary program, with the exception of sending out and recording grades.

Although the final number of those matriculating is evidently not as large as that of last year, it is still adequate to justify the administrative policy of the deadline set on registrations and changing classes as well as the advance payment of fees.

The Registrar asks the co-operation of the student body in making all necessary changes in programs as soon as possible, as no change will be permitted after February 10.

FLAMING YOUTH

The Red Headed Club, which was recently founded by our more flaming co-eds, still is nameless, but there is a rumor that they may combine with Titian Tints, the red-headed club at Goucher, to make a national sorority of it. Negotiations are being carried on by Anne McCorkle, chairman of the G. W. Red-Heads, and if Titian Tints is able to meet the requirements, of "long haired upper-classmen only," the local club will probably affiliate with them in the near future.

The patroness of the society has not yet been chosen. It has been hard to find a notable in the faculty who fills the Titian requirements, and as men are absolutely barred, the club may be forced to choose one of the opposing forces of hair-don.

WOMEN TOSSERS WIN FIRST GAME

Varsity Defeats Gallaudet Sextet by Wide Margin of 34-17

SEASON'S PROSPECTS GOOD

Game Fast and Close Until Fair Colonials Jump Ahead at Half

George Washington co-ed basketball players' first game ended victoriously last Friday night with the defeat of Gallaudet, 34 to 17 on the Kendall Green floor.

The game was fast and much closer than the score indicates, the fair Gallaudet sextet putting up a hard fight for each point. The girls from Kendall Green have a much better team this year than last and surprised the Colonials by their clever guarding and pass work. Roughness during the game gave both sides many free shots and two girls were put out of the game on personal fouls.

In the first quarter neither side had the advantage, the ball going up and down the court most of the time. The G. W. team seemed to wake up, however, when the whistle for the second quarter blew, and goals were made in quick succession. At the end of the half the score stood 19 to 7 in favor of George Washington.

G. W. Ahead at Half

The second half started with G. W. taking the ball down to Crumley who put it in for two points. After that the Gallaudet defense tightened and no more baskets were made by the Hatchettes until the Kendall Greeners had put in a two-point shot and two foul goals. The superior passing of the George Washington tossers soon put the ball in their forward territory and the Ewers-Crumley combination rolled up the score until at the final whistle the Gallaudet score was doubled.

Summary of the game:

G. W.	Gallaudet
Ewers	Forward
Crumley	Forward
Omwake	Center
Cate	Side-Center
Faunce	Guard
Hastings	Guard

Substitutions: Tomlin for Hastings; Beasley for Lawson. Goals: Ewers (2 twos, 4 ones), Crumley (11 twos, 4 ones), Kannapell (7 twos, 3 ones).

Chemistry Textbook Published by Dr. Roe

Books Will Be Widely Used By Schools of Nursing Throughout the Country

Joseph H. Roe, Ph. D., Professor of Chemistry in George Washington University Medical School, has published his textbook, "Principles of Chemistry." The book deals with organic, inorganic and physiological chemistry for nurses and students of home economics and applied chemistry.

Professor Roe is a graduate of George Washington University and has taught here for the past eight years. In addition to the professorship of chemistry he holds also the appointment of lecturer in chemistry at Central School of Nursing and Chemistry at the George Washington University Hospital. He is author also of various articles published in chemical and medical journals and is a member of Alpha Chi Sigma.

"Principles of Chemistry," according to Professor Roe, has been written to meet the requirements of the forty-five to sixty-hour courses in chemistry for nurses recently recommended by the National League of Nursing Education.

DEAN OF LAW SCHOOL ILL

Dean William C. Van Vleet of the Law School has been confined to his bed for the last two weeks with a bad case of grippe, but is expected back at his office very shortly.

CLASS OFFICERS CALL OFF JUNIOR WEEK AND PROM

May be Combined With Senior Prom and Held Late In March

MEETINGS ANNOUNCED TO DISCUSS QUESTION

Financial Failure of Past Proms is Given as Reason For Drastic Action

At a joint meeting of the Student Social Committee and the Junior and Senior presidents of the colleges, plans were discussed for the Junior and Senior Week of this year. It was decided that there should be no Junior Week or Senior Prom for this year. However, it was decided that the Junior and Senior Proms should be combined and held during the latter part of March, provided that sufficient interest could be worked up to make them a financial as well as a social success.

Because of the financial failure of past proms, the abolition of both Junior and Senior Proms was considered. Only partial interest has prevailed in the past, and there is a chance that the proms will have to be abolished altogether, if the students do not wake up to the fact that lack of support has been the cause of the past failure.

Classes to Meet

There will be meetings of all the Junior and Senior classes within the next week to discuss this proposition. The Junior and Senior classes in Engineering will hold a joint meeting on Friday, February 11, in Room 21, of Lister Hall.

The Senior Class of Columbian College will meet on Thursday, February 10, in Corcoran Hall, 29, and the Junior Class of Columbian College will meet on Thursday, February 10, in Corcoran Hall, 1, for the day students, and in Corcoran Hall, 17, for the night students.

The Law and Medical School classes will be called by the presidents and notices posted.

FEBRUARY 15 SET AS YEARBOOK DEADLINE

Material for Organization Pages also Must be in by This Date

February 15 is the deadline for having pictures taken for the Cherry Tree. After that date no pictures of juniors, class officers, organization officers, or individuals will be accepted. Seniors who have not yet filled out their activity blanks should do so at once, and it is urged that every Senior have his picture taken for the Cherry Tree. This should be done before the 15th of the month.

Organizations desiring a page or more in the year book must have their material in before February 15. Any page unpaid for by March 1 will not be run.

Agents for advertising matter for the Cherry Tree are now being paid 20 per cent commissions in addition to receiving a free copy of the year book for every two hundred dollars worth of ads they sell. This commission is exactly double the per cent previously given to advertising solicitors by the Cherry Tree. Anyone interested in this work should see Rowland Lyon, business manager.

A copy of the 1927 Cherry Tree will also be given to any person obtaining twenty subscriptions to the Cherry Tree.

RAZZ BERRY PLANS ARE MADE AT P. D. E. MEETING

Much campus scandal is now being compiled by old man "Razz Berry" according to an announcement made by the local chapter of Pi Delta Epsilon, collegiate honorary journalistic fraternity. This scandal will be put forth in the annual publication of the fraternity, known as the Razz Berry, which will go on sale at the Interfraternity tea dance, to be held in Corcoran Hall on February 22.

A meeting of the fraternity was held at the Theta Upsilon Omega fraternity house last Sunday morning to confer with regard to the publication.

DR. HAPLOID OF HOWARD WILL SPEAK ON CANADA

"Canada From the Canadian Point of View" is the subject of the address to be delivered by Dr. Haploid of Howard University to the History Club on Tuesday evening, February 15 at 8:15 o'clock in Corcoran Hall. This is the fourth of a series of lectures given by the History Club, the previous addresses being on Mexico, Constantinople and Turkey, and Italy.

WASHINGTON, D. C., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 9, 1927

NO JUNIOR WEEK

Junior Week and Prom have been definitely called off, and the same fate may await the Senior Prom, according to the results of a joint meeting of the Social Relations Committee and the class presidents. The reason given is that these affairs have not in past years been financial successes.

It would be a mistake to allow these two outstanding social affairs to die, but it is absolutely necessary that they be so managed that they may at least pay their expenses. The Senior Class of 1927 has a deficit charged to it from last year's Junior Prom which it has no way of paying off. Under these circumstances the prospect for the future looks dark.

However, rather than let these two main functions of the year die out, it would be better to hold them in our own gymnasium. Expenses could be cut tremendously and there would be no difficulty in selling tickets at a reduced rate. It has been amply demonstrated again and again that the gymnasium can be decorated to look less like a barn and more like a ballroom. If we cannot make our proms pay in the ballrooms of the expensive hotels, we can bring them home rather than do away with them entirely.

ARE WE OVER-ORGANIZED?

Announcement of the recent foundation of another organization on the campus brings home again the fact that the University is already over-organized. There are fraternities and sororities to fill the social needs of the students. There are numerous honorary and professional organizations on the campus to foster their respective work. There are the various teams, publications, and dramatic groups. All these have a definite place in the life of the University; each has a clear-cut purpose to accomplish. But the establishment of an organization without, as far as it is possible to ascertain, any reason for its existence, except, perhaps, that of gaining a little notoriety for its members, seems to be carrying coals to Newcastle.

MORE work on existing organizations and LESS toward the founding of new cliques would be of the greatest benefit to the University as well as to the students themselves.

THE BLUE KEY

Once again the Hatchet demands action by the Blue Key Society, the Sophomore vigilance organization. This Society, ready to be pronounced dead at the opening of the school year, awoke after many proddings and performed admirably against the rebellious freshmen. Soon after this the Blue Key patrolled itself on the back and went into another nap, from which various editorials, cajolings and threats have not been able to awaken it. Two or three meetings have been attempted, according to the officers, but they have "flopped" decidedly. Each and every member of this Society should awake to the realization that it is now time to make arrangements for taking in the outstanding members of the freshman class, so that action can be started on plans for next year. The Blue Key idea is an excellent one, and after the good start made this year the Society should not be allowed to die of inactivity.

LIGHTS THAT FAIL

The Hatchet has received an open letter from Edgar Graham of the Graduate School, calling attention to the very deplorable lack of street lights around the University. When the late afternoon classes are over at seven o'clock these winter days, it is already dark, and the dark is relieved by only seven street lamps around the entire block. In front of Lisner Hall and the other buildings between Twentieth and Twenty-first Streets, there is one feeble lamp whose rays illumine a territory of only a few feet on each side. This is the only light between the two corners. The other three sides of the block are about as inefficiently lighted.

The administration of the University, unfortunately, has nothing to do with this condition or with methods of remedying it. But the letter suggests that possibly if the matter were brought before the proper authorities by the University officials, some measures might be taken to have this section lighted more satisfactorily.

RUSHING am rushing these days. Puzzled freshmen are running from one party to another and every one else is doing her best to make them have a good time. And incidentally the men are not left out.

Something unusual in the way of an old-fashioned dinner was given by the A. D. P.'s at the home of Margaret Rees last week.

Delegates to the Tri-Diocesan Conference to be held in Baltimore February 25, 26, 27, will be chosen by the Episcopal Club at their next meeting, Thursday, February 10. Members will be requested to submit questions which they wish answered at the conference. Elizabeth Wiltbank will tell about the last year's conference which was held here under the auspices of the George Washington Episcopal Club.

Canon William L. De Vries of Washington Cathedral, talked at the last meeting of the Episcopal Club, held January 4, on his experiences with college men and women.

Coleman Jennings who spoke December 2 on "Toc H." will probably speak again in March.

New students who are Episcopallans or interested in the work of the Episcopal Church, are cordially invited to the next and future meetings.

All members are urged to attend the corporate communion to be held at 7.30, Sunday, February 13, at St. Paul's Church, 23rd Street between I and Washington Circle. Breakfast will be served after the service.

MOSS TALKS ON SHAVING

Professor Moss gave a detailed discussion in class last week on the art of shaving and reading the newspaper at one and the same time. He went into the intricacies of shaving, skill and time required, and pointed out how the process could be combined with that of absorbing the morning's news, at what stage of the procedure the page should be turned, and like details. As a genuine time saver he declares this system could not be improved upon.

Dr. Wilfley's first topic next Sunday night will be "The Second Crucifixion" by Richard LeGallienne.

A parallel series on "Bible Portraits of Jesus" will be given on Sunday mornings beginning with the topic "The Portrait of Jesus in Prophecy."

You are an experienced smoker and you know your brand!

YOU'RE an experienced smoker. You know good tobaccos. You know taste and fragrance. And you insist on the best — that's Camels. Only the primest tobaccos grown are good enough for you — the experienced smoker. Whatever you do you are going to do right, if you know it. If Camels weren't the best, they would not be far and away the first. If Camels weren't quality supreme, they would not be the overwhelming preference of smokers who have tried every brand. Your taste tells you the tobacco difference in cigarettes and you're going to smoke the best. Your advice to others is — "Have a Camel!"

CO-ED SHARPSHOOTERS DOWN DREXEL TEAM

Splendid Shooting on Both Sides
Result in Four Point
Margin

The Girls' Rifle team of Drexel Institute went down to defeat before the George Washington Co-ed team in a shoulder-to-shoulder match fired in Philadelphia on Saturday.

The score was the closest one to which a Drexel team has ever held the Washington team: 499 to 495 out of a possible 500.

There was splendid shooting on both sides. At the end of the first half of the match George Washington was leading by a lone point. After this, however, everything pointed to a Washington victory for the fourth George Washington shooter scored a 100 and the Drexel co-ed "blew up" completely.

The first four George Washington shooters not only did not drop a single point, but they scored 48 out of a possible 50 "x's" which signifies that they not only hit the bull's eye but struck the very center of it 48 times.

The best shooting on the local team was done by Gene Cuvillier a freshman. She was followed a close second by Helen Prentiss, a girl who has developed from a rookie last year to the team's most dependable shot.

The only two girls on the Drexel team who fired possible scores were Katherine Vollmer and "Ensy" Ensworth, Drexel's last year's manager.

The scores were as follows: Helen Prentiss, 100; Marjorie Folsom, 100; Betty Clark, 100; Gene Cuvillier, 100; Katty Shoemaker, 99, and Ermyntude Valden, 98. Only the "high five" scores counted.

The Drexel team comes to Washington March 26 for a return match which will be a triangular affair including also the University of Maryland.

G. W. HARRIER PLACES SECOND IN SUNDAY RUN

Walton Shipley, former Colonial track and cross-country star, won the second of the Aloysius Club's three-mile races, held at the Union Station Plaza grounds Sunday. He seemed to have lost none of his old form.

Sherman Johnson, G. W. runner, took second place, finishing in a hard sprint ahead of Heinrich of Gallaudet. Montague, of the Aloysius Club, was fourth.

In the first of the events, January 23, Johnson was winner, beating Pomeroy, also of G. W., by only a few yards. Heinrich, of Gallaudet, was third and Montague fourth.

Shipley was an unattached entry, and has been running unattached since December 4. He won a number of the Aloysius races last year, and was probably the university's best distance runner.

GOLF TEAM AUTHORIZED

The Student Activities Council has authorized the organization of a golf team to represent George Washington University in competitions with the University of Virginia, Georgetown, Princeton and Navy. The golf team will have the rating of a minor sport. Five men and the manager will receive minor letter awards. Applicants for places on the team should get in touch with Jo Bloom at 452 Newton Place, Adams 6342.

SCARABS ENTERTAIN

The Scarabs were hosts at a banquet at the Lee House on February 2, in honor of Professors Crandall, Harris, and Bibb, who have been invited to honorary membership in the fraternity. Alfred Lile, Henry King, Wallace Lynn, Kenneth Smoot, R. Beall, R. Barns, and E. Brown as newly-pledged members, were present.

C. U. QUINTET IS NEXT OPPONENT

Meet Catholic U. at Brookland Tonight and St. Bonaventure Saturday

C. U. DEFEATED BUT ONCE
St. Bonaventure Reported Crack Team With Fluffy Passes and Five-Man Defense

Fresh from their victory over the Washington Square College of the New York University. Coach Jimmy Lemon's Colonial basketball team face two of the toughest tussles of the season when they meet Catholic University at Brookland tonight, and encounter the losers from St. Bonaventure in the gymnasium Saturday evening.

The Reindeer from C. U. who battle the Colonials tonight have a record for speed and flashy playing which does not belie their name. Since the season started the Maroon and Blacks have tasted defeat but once, and that at the hands of Navy, who downed the Brooklanders by a 40-20 count. It is significant to note that the Cardinals were hampered by Capt. Long's sprained ankle, which prevented him from showing his usual brilliance against the Middles.

Among the victims who have fallen before Coach Rice's team are such opponents as Washington College, Stevens Institute, American University, and Fordham. George Washington dropped its game to American U. by a 21-15 score, while Catholic U. triumphed over the same team shortly afterward 34-22. A win tonight for the Colonials will avenge this defeat in addition to conquering their traditional rivals.

Fordham was rated as an easy victor over the Cardinals, but the Brooklanders upset the hope to hand the New Yorkers a 31-23 setback. Foley, Capt. Long, and Harvey were the big guns of the Reindeers' attack in that particular game as well as in the other games of the season.

Ray Foley, at guard, with Capt. Johnny Long and Bill Harvey at the forward positions, present a trio of stars who are ably backed by Eddie Keale and Jim Carney at forward and center, respectively. This aggregation comprises the Maroon and Black's first team, which is ranked as one of the best quintets in the District in amassing points, close guarding, rapid passing, and general all-around ability. The Brooklanders seldom use substitutes, but Mountain, regularly a guard, will probably get the call this evening if a regular is forced to retire from the fray.

Since the game is to be played at Catholic University, a nominal admission charge will be made to George Washington students who wish to attend the contest.

St. Bonaventure sends a team to engage the Hatchette warriors Saturday, which is reported to be a smooth-running machine, proficient in passing and the five-man defense. For a number of years St. Bonaventure has always been represented by a crack basketball team, and this year is no exception.

Statistics on the Saints' victories this season are not available, other than the fact that the aggregation from Western New York have one of the best fighting units in that part of the State.

DR. MICHELSON SPEAKS ON INDIAN LANGUAGES

Dr. Truman Michelson led a symposium in Philadelphia at the holiday meeting of the American Anthropological Association. An attempt was made at this meeting to prove that certain American Indian languages were related to the Polynesian and Melanesian and Australian. The body decided that the evidence presented did not justify the claim.

Dr. Michelson is having a book published entitled "Contributions to Fox Ethnology." Indian texts are printed to accompany part of the work.

FRESHMAN QUINT WINS AND LOSES

Win From Alexandria High School and Lose to Woodward Club

MEET STRONG OPPOSITION

Schaffert and Young Star for Frosh Accounting for Most of the Points

One victory and one defeat was the Freshman quint's total last week, when they doubled the score against the Alexandria High School five on Saturday, 30-14, and lost a ragged game to the Woodward club of the Y. M. C. A. on the Wednesday before by a 22-15 count. This even break brings the yearling team's standing to five victories out of the nine games in which a decision has been reached this season.

Under the leadership of Alton Bland, who has replaced Jimmy Carey as the Frosh coach, the Freshmen displayed improved teamwork in taking the measure of the hitherto unbeaten Alexandria High quint. Scoring six points before the Virginians could locate the basket, the locals were never headed, and before the final whistle had blown, the entire Frosh squad had taken part in the contest. A feature of the game was the accurate shooting by the yearling forwards as compared with the wildness shown in the two previous engagements.

The Alexandria five put up a strong defense, but could not get into a scoring position often enough to keep pace with the Freshmen. Smith, who has played an important part in the ten straight victories scored by the Virginians this year, led the scoring on his team, with two field goals and two foul shots.

Schaffert Stars

Len Schaffert was high man for the Frosh, accounting for six double-deckers and three free shots in the first half, after which he was replaced by Wineland.

The Frosh missed enough fouls to win the game in the contest with the "Y" team played as a preliminary to the Davis-Elkins fray, blowing four straight chances at one stage of the game. The Woodward quint played one of the strongest defensive games that the Frosh have run up against this season, which accounts for the small score made by both teams. Time after time the yearlings advanced the ball up the floor, only to lose it or be forced to shoot from a bad angle.

The "Y" first team played throughout the entire game. Hayes led the scoring by looping in two field goals and a quartet of foul shots.

Ford Young played a snappy game at forward for the Frosh, and accounted for ten of his team's fifteen points. McQueen, Breslow and Galotta put up a fast defensive game, and were instrumental in keeping the winners' score low.

DOCTOR SIMON SPEAKS ON TRUTH IN CHAPEL

That the search for truth should result in intellectual, artistic, and moral honesty and truth was the message of Dr. Abram Simon, who spoke at chapel on Friday, February 4. He offered as a motto for academic life the selection from the 51st Psalm, "Thou desirest truth in the inmost parts" as a stimulus to the search for truth among the multitudinous truths in the scientific, artistic, and moral world.

The speaker compared the University to a gymnasium wherein past and present truths wrestle continually and the fittest alone survive. From all these each must find the real truth through the aid of his wisdom which is a spiritual quality enabling one to interpret knowledge.

Frosh Quint to Meet C. U. Tossers Tonight

Opponent for Saturday's Preliminary Not Yet Found; Will Probably Be Emerson

The Freshman basketball team will engage the Catholic University Freshman quint in a preliminary to the varsity game to be played between the old rivals tonight.

The Brookland yearlings have won one and lost three of their last four games, downing Western by a 24-19 count, and suffering defeat at the hands of Devitt Prep, Strayer's Business College and Eastern High School.

Comparative scores promise that this game should be a nip and tuck affair, the local Frosh having lost to Eastern by a 36-17 score while the Brooklanders succumbed to the Easterners by a six-point margin, 27-21. The young Colonials have improved greatly since their game with Eastern, and intend to make it two straight victories by winning tonight's game.

An opponent has not been found yet for Saturday's preliminary, but it is announced that either the Emerson Institute quint or some other strong local combination will be engaged.

And they lived happily ever afterwards!

ONCE UPON A TIME there was a man whose life's ambition was to take unto himself a pipe. Time and again his heart was set on some particular pipe—but poor fellow, his dreams never came true.

Until one day a friend, experienced in such affairs, gave him a few pointers. He took his friend's advice; he got some Granger Rough Cut. . . It worked! In a few weeks' time he was solidly wedded to a wonderful pipe... sitting pretty, fixed for life!

Indeed, but for Granger many a man would never know the joy and comfort of a pipe! Granger is so mild, so mellow, so cool! Ripe old Burley tobacco, mellowed Wellman's way. And cut in rough flakes that burn slow and smoke cool. . .

Granger's mission in life is to see that no man ever experiences a pipe disappointment. . . Just stick to Granger and your old pipe'll be a perfect pal—right through the years. Forever!

Non-breakable Pen Barrel? Dr. F. C. Morse of the National Park-to-Park Highway Association was unconvinced.

So recently to test the new Parker Duofold barrel, he stood on the rim of Grand Canyon and threw this pen into the rock-lined chasm.

When the pen was recovered amid the jagged rocks a half mile below the canyon's edge, it was scratched a bit, but quite unbroken.

When the cap was removed the point was as good as ever—a point guaranteed for 25 years, not only for mechanical perfection but for wear!

You cannot get Duofold quality in any pen save that stamped "Geo. S. Parker." Look carefully for this. Any good pen counter would like you to try this classic.

WRECK FATAL TO G. W. U. STUDENT

Paul Twombly Killed When Car is Struck by Fast Train

MACHINE IS DEMOLISHED

Three Other Members of Family
Meet Death at the Same
Time

Paul Twombly, 27, a student at G. W. U. was instantly killed when the automobile which he was driving early last Friday morning was struck by the St. Louis express of the B. & O. as it flashed through Kensington at a speed estimated to have been in excess of 50 miles an hour.

With him were his parents, a sister and a friend of the family, Mrs. Grafton Holland, who were all killed. So far as could be learned he was driving the car with his sister beside him and the three older members of the party sitting in the back seat.

No Eye Witnesses

The car was demolished, its top torn completely off, and its frame and body crushed and bent beyond recognition. Apparently the speeding engine struck the car about in the middle, crashing through the rear.

According to the first information received regarding the tragedy there were no eye witnesses, although a few minutes after the train struck the car, scattering the bodies 200 yards west of the crossing, firemen from the Kensington volunteer department were at the scene to render any possible assistance.

Paul Twombly was a graduate of Gonzaga High School and the Foreign Service School of Georgetown University. He was employed at the University in the office of the Registrar.

Oddly enough the first score of the game was made by Liebstone, right guard of the losers, when he dropped in a basket from the help-yourself-line.

Perry Hero of Game

Shortly after this "Cecil" Perry, brilliant Colonial guard who was destined to be the hero of the evening, broke through to score a neat two-pointer. Captain Fred Wallace followed his mate's example and between them they had run up a 9 to 2 count before Leder located the cage with a long one.

Through successive long shots the Gothamites brought the score up to 19-9 only to have Haun and Wallace sink a goal apiece from scrimmage sending the locals ahead, at half time.

The Axemen maintained their lead for the remainder of the game, but were threatened by a belated enemy rally.

The Lemonites were out in front by three points with one minute to play when the determined enemy got possession of the ball and made for its basket. Perry cleverly intercepted a whirlwind offensive, secured the sphere, and immediately dribbled toward his own goal. As he tossed in a field goal he was fouled. The basket was ruled legal and Perry was given two tries at the fifteen foot line. He dropped both in, the final whistle was blown, and the Colonials had scored their fourth victory of the season.

Perry and Wallace were the offensive guns while "Reds" Allshouse and "Jimmy" Carey played their usual brilliant game on defense and in feeding their mates. Leder and Putterman were the visiting stars offensively and defensively.

Davis-Elkins Game Close

The other game last week, in which the Davis-Elkins quint from Elkins, West Virginia, barely gained the decision over the Colonials, was perhaps the best played encounter this season. Being partly overcome by the brilliance of the scarlet uniforms and the smooth team play at once of the visitors the Lemonites fell short by five points of whipping them. The final score was 29-25.

The game was refereed by Dutch Eberts of Catholic University, who is considered by some authorities to be the foremost official in the city. Both teams employed the type of play, using the passing game and man-to-man defense. The big difference was shown at the free-throw line where the Senators dropped in twelve to the Colonials' seven. This proved the margin of victory.

Poscover, hefty visiting forward, opened the scoring by two free tosses. Haun and Wallace, however, soon started for the locals, registering a field goal each. Barrett and Christy, guard and center, respectively, for the Mountaineers, soon countered with two-pointers and the battle was on.

Decisions Close

It was a nip and tuck affair until the end of the first half when successive baskets by Barrett, Christy and Brown sent the "Scarlets" ahead, 15-10. The locals came back in the second half to make it a real contest but they were guilty of too many fouls of which the enemy took advantage. Poscover put the game on ice in the last minute of play when he sent the ball whizzing through the iron hoop.

Henry Sapp, who went into the tap-off for Haun, proved to be the high point man in the fray gaining nine counters. Allshouse and Carey played a smooth and dependable game for the losers, while Christy and Barrett were the outstanding players for the victors.

Advisory Body Plans For Activity Record

Discusses Point System for Recognition of Students' Activities in Extra-Curricular Work

Plans for the official recognition of students who engage in student activities were discussed at the meeting of the Student Advisory Committee held Tuesday, February 1, in the President's Office. Under the projected system, a permanent record will be kept of the participation of each student in extra-curricular activities, and recognition will be awarded on the basis of a point system.

The committee expressed itself as being confident that the proposed plan, under which the University will keep a record of a student's participation in activities in much the same manner as a record is now kept of his grades, will result in an increase in interest shown in the various recognized activities.

Tuesday, February 15, has been set as the date of the next meeting of the committee.

SCHOOL SPIRIT TOPIC OF MEETING THURSDAY

Men and women students are invited to the Y. W. C. A. meeting to discuss the George Washington school spirit on Thursday at 11 o'clock, in Corcoran Hall, 17. Anne McCorkle, chairman of the Membership Committee, will be in charge, and Blue Key and Safety League have received special invitations to attend. The new committee on chapel attendance will be there to offer suggestions, and Jerry Siskler threatens to turn it into a pep meeting if the girls aren't careful.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB WILL SING AT NAVY HOSPITAL

The Naval Hospital will be the scene of a concert given by the Girls' Glee Club, March 1. The program has not been arranged as yet.

Any new girls wishing to try out for the club will be heard by Estelle Wentworth, coach. Meetings are held every Monday at 12:15 in Corcoran Hall, 1.

ENOSINIANS HOLD OPERA MEET

The Enosinians held a comic opera session on February 1. Jack Milligan furnished the club with his theory on comic opera. According to this campus critic, comic opera satire preceded the great dramatists such as Ibsen and Shaw. Wroe Alderson gave readings from the "Bab Ballads."

BEMIS IS EDITOR OF U. S. HISTORY

Survey of American Diplomacy
To be Published by New York Firm

HILL ALSO CONTRIBUTOR

"The American Secretaries of State and Their Diplomacy" is Title of Work

Under the editorship of Samuel Flagg Bemis, professor of history at the George Washington University, a new work, "The American Secretaries of State and Their Diplomacy," is being published by Alfred A. Knopf, Inc., of New York City. Professor Bemis is cooperating in the production of this work with an Advisory Board composed of J. Franklin Jameson, H. Barrett Learned, and James Brown Scott.

Professor Bemis and his associates have long been planning in detail, and are now ready to announce as a whole, a sequence of ten volumes to supply a two-fold deficiency in the record of United States history.

This series will present a detailed survey of the history of American diplomacy, and biographies of the men who, as Secretaries of State, have been successively responsible for the conduct of our relations with other powers, thus reflecting the history of our foreign relations throughout the hundred and fifty years of our national existence in terms of the lives of our individual Secretaries of State. Never before has such a complete history of American diplomatic relations been written, as there has never before been adequate biographical treatment of many of the officials who have discharged the function of Secretary of State since even before 1789.

Professor Charles E. Hill is another of the George Washington University faculty who has contributed to the production of this series.

DEBATE TRYOUTS

Women's Debate tryouts for the debate with Ohio Wesleyan University at Delaware, Ohio on March 5 will be held tonight, February 9, in Corcoran Hall, at 8 o'clock.

Contestants should be prepared with a five-minute speech on the affirmative side of the following question: Resolved that Congress should enact a Uniform Marriage and Divorce Law, constitutionality waived.

Engravings Donated by Mrs. Richardson

Three Steel Engravings of Washington's Life Are Now on Exhibition

Three steel engravings portraying incidents in the life of Washington, were recently presented to the University by Mrs. Charles W. Richardson. They are now on exhibition in Corcoran Hall, 1.

One engraving, by Fourcier, shows Washington with his aged mother at Ferry Farm on the Rappahannock River. Another, by Ritchie, depicts Washington bidding farewell to his generals. The third is an engraving from Huntington's painting of Lady Washington's reception.

In addition to these pictures Mrs. Richardson has from time to time presented the University with important documents pertaining to the life of Washington. Outstanding among these is the will of Martha Washington and a copy of the Washington prayer.

BRODETSKY SPEAKS

Professor Brodetsky, of the University of Leeds, England, showed the effect that the Hebrew University of Jerusalem is destined to have on Jewish life, in an address delivered before the Avukah Club, last Wednesday.
